

DADY EXPOSES BLACKMAILERS.

Declares He Gave the Names of Those in the Police Scandal to Partridge.

ALL HUSHED UP THEN.

Leader Calls on the Mayor, but Says His Honor Was Not Made Acquainted with the Charges.

Michael J. Dady, of Brooklyn, called on Mayor Low this morning and was in conference with him in his private office for about a half hour. Upon leaving Mr. Dady was asked about his statements regarding blackmail in the Police Department.

"The information reached me and Lieut. Gov. Woodruff," he said, "that the boys—I mean the police—are working the old game, making certain persons pay protection, and we laid the information before Col. Partridge. He gave me the names of the blackmailers and those blackmailed, but nothing has been done about it."

"Did you talk to the Mayor about it?" he was asked. "We talked about the weather," was the reply.

"Were the charges given to the Mayor, too?"

"No, he knew nothing about it." Mr. Dady was asked about his own case—the charges made against him by President Brauer, of the Brauer steamship line. He said:

"I am waiting to get a verbatim report of the statements made to the Mayor. I will not take any action from the published statements found in the newspapers. There is no direct charge against me. Some one says that some one else told him that some one else said I have thought of taking an action against a newspaper, but have not done so, as I cannot get the direct evidence."

"Are you going to resign as Commissioner of Elections?"

"No, I am not." Mr. Dady was asked later regarding the call of Col. Dady. He said: "Mr. Dady called to see me and told me that he had given no interview to any newspaper man."

"What will you do in the matter? Will you follow up the charges?"

"I have no disposition to pursue the matter any further. I do not think there is any substance in it."

The Mayor was asked regarding the Brauer charges against Col. Dady. He said: "Mr. Dady told me there was no basis for them."

IS HEIRESS IN THIRD GENERATION.

Jessica Harrison Declared to Be Legally Entitled to $500,000 Left by Her Great Grandfather in 1853.

Through a decision by Justice Stockler, of the Supreme Court, Jessica R. Harrison comes into about $500,000 as the "lawful issue" of her grandfather, under the will of her great-grandfather, James Harrison, who died in 1853, leaving large tracts of land in the present city of New York.

James Harrison, by his will, undertook to manage his estate for a couple of generations after his death, and the estate has been in litigation for nearly fifty years.

The will gave a life estate to each of his six children, the principal of each child to go to his "lawful issue" at his death, but if any child died "without lawful issue," his share was to be divided among the other five beneficiaries.

Among James Harrison's six children was William H. Harrison. He lived until 1900. He had only one child, the father of Jessica. When her grandfather died Jessica claimed his one-sixth of her great-grandfather's estate, setting up that she is his living lawful issue of the second generation, a rare situation in this country.

Justice Stockler, by his decision, says she is entitled to the estate.

MAY SALE OF SUMMER RIBBONS

HUNDREDS of thousands of yards of bright new Ribbons, fresh from the looms, in the very newest kinds and colorings—exactly ribbons that everybody wants in such lavish quantities right now. Such are the Ribbons—but the prices are far below the regular cost of such Ribbons, because we placed these vast orders with factories that were through with their regular product, and glad to pare down prices on such a vast, sure and safe order as ours, coming when they had little other work on hand.

All are pure silk Ribbons—there is never a cotton-mixed ribbon in our stocks, at any price. Then we picked the exact styles, and the exact colorings that we, and you, wanted; yet prices are as little as you would expect to pay for odds and ends in a clean-up sale.

The counters of the Main aisle, Ninth and Tenth street aisles hold the elaborate display; and every woman who has a ribbon need will not only find here the widest variety and most brilliant colorings, but will save much on the expected cost of the beauty-things.

BUTLER CONFESSES $17,500 THEFT.

Brannigan, in Court, Admits He Took the Steers Jewels—Exonerates Waller; Implicates Stone.

Patrick Brannigan, the butler accused of stealing $17,500 worth of jewelry from his employer, Henry Steers, banker of No. 10 East Thirty-eighth street, confessed in Yorkville Court to-day. He exonerated Joseph Waller, the ashman, but implicated Julius Stone, the trunk dealer at No. 564 Third avenue. Despite the protests of Former Assistant District Attorney Tancer, who represented Waller, the latter was held with Brannigan in $5,000 bail each for trial by Magistrate Barlow. Stone, who was in court, was not arrested. Brannigan declared Waller had no knowledge of the contents of the parcel he took to Stone. The prisoner swore that only he and Stone knew what the parcel contained. Stone denied Brannigan's statement, saying that after Brannigan had offered him the jewelry he told Capt. Delaney about it and that the latter informed him to take the jewelry and that he would have an officer on hand to make the arrest.

Policeman McQueeney, of the East Thirty-fifth street station, testified that he heard Brannigan and Waller talk in their cell and that Brannigan said: "We were caught bad. Stone gave us away. We had better tell the truth."
